

Sponsorship plan

Two days. One game. Made by you. A free game jam where about 100 teenagers aged 13–18 each build and publish their first video game.

Why sponsor Haven Tashkent

A first for Tashkent. Haven runs the same weekend in 200+ cities worldwide, organised by Hack Club, a US 501(c)(3) nonprofit where 100,000+ teenagers learn by building. Tashkent joins for the first time.

Real output, not a lecture. Every participant publishes a playable game on itch.io with the code on GitHub. For most, it is the first thing they have ever put on the internet.

Families in the room. Parents come to Sunday's showcase, where everyone plays everyone's games and awards are given.

Organised by students. A team of 14 high-school students runs everything: venue, budget, partners, safety and the programme.

Where the money goes

Food: five meals for ~120 people	$1,215
Water, juice, tea	$228
Certificates, badges, photo backdrop	$204
Prizes (each under $30, Hack Club rule)	$259
Extension leads, adapters, projector if needed	$214
Name badges and lanyards	$85
First aid and supplies	$49
Supply runs and emergency float	$136
Total cost	$2,698
Hack Club per-sign-up funding (est.)	– $585
Still to raise	$2,113

Source: Haven Tashkent event budget (28 Sep 2026); 1 USD ≈ 11,780 UZS.

Sponsorship plan

Two days. One game. Made by you. A free game jam where about 100 teenagers aged 13–18 each build and publish their first video game.

Sponsorship levels

Level	Amount	What it covers	What you get
Friend	$100	Snacks and tea for a day	Name on our sponsor wall and event page; thanks in our Telegram channel
Supporter	$300	One meal for 110 people	Everything in Friend, plus logo on opening slides; an Instagram story and Telegram post about you; thanks on stage
Partner	$600	All printing and badges, or all prizes	Everything in Supporter, plus logo on the photo backdrop in the group photo; a dedicated Instagram post; a 1-minute mention at the opening; a table at Sunday's showcase
Lead Partner	$1,200	Food for a whole day	Everything in Partner, plus a named award (for example “Best Game, presented by you”; the prize itself stays under $30); a 3-minute welcome at the opening; logo on every name badge; a post-event report with photos for your own channels. Two places only.

In kind counts. Food, printing, equipment loans, prizes or a venue count toward a level at their market value. So do mentors aged 19+ from your team.

How to support

- Card, online: hcb.hackclub.com/donations/start/haven-tashkent — the money goes straight to Haven Tashkent's account on HCB, Hack Club's nonprofit finance platform, and a receipt is issued automatically.
- Bank transfer: we can send an invoice from Hack Club (501(c)(3), EIN 81-2908499).
- Pay a vendor directly: the caterer or printer invoices you for one named item, for example “Haven Tashkent, Saturday lunch”.
- In kind: your product, service, space or people.

Key dates

Confirm by 23 October to appear on printed materials (they go to print on 30 October). Final budget goes to Hack Club on 7 November. Event: 14–15 November. Report to partners: by 27 November.

Stated plainly: registration opened on 2 October; the venue is confirmed in writing by 12 October. We never announce a partner before they confirm in writing, and every partner gets a written confirmation and a thank-you letter.